

First World War items held in East Riding Museums Service collections

ID Number	Description
ERYMS : 1995.722	Brass East Yorkshire Volunteers battalion shoulder badge - with the four letters joined together. Pin in slide on back. Probably dates to the period of the First World War.
ERYMS : 1996.1095	Hexagonal bronze Peace Medal 1914-1918 war, with Peace Celebration, the 3B's shield with 19 on each side of it, the word Bridlington in a scroll beneath it, and Ernest Lambert Mayor at the bottom. On the reverse side 'To the honour of our gallant sea, land and air forces which under God brought victory and peace'. A bronze clasp with a pin worded, 'Finis a dest belli sunt et sua munera paci' and a black and white ribbon.
ERYMS (BAG) : 1998.448	Bronze medal depicting head and shoulders of an army officer on one side, marked 'C.M. Schwerdtner'; and the reverse shows a soldier with a rifle standing on a mountain. Probably WWI period. Part of a group found with a plaque marked '15' (1998.17). Probably an art medal rather than a military item as such.
ERYMS : 1995.724	Gilt metal and enamel shield with old Bridlington coat of arms and crown above, shield enclosed in scrolls, dark blue, yellow and red enamel. Legend - 'Bridlington Volunteer Force'. On reverse the number 107.
ERYMS (BAG) : 1998.461	Iron (?) medal with 'ROGER CASEMENT' on one side and a portrait of a man being executed, plus inscription in German; a book (dated 1351), a spider and a web on the other. The inscription translates as "the dead hand of Edward III is tying the rope around Ireland, August 3rd 1916." . This medal was a German propaganda piece relating to the execution by the British of the Irish nationalist Roger Casement. The inscription implies that he was put to death under the terms of an archaic Medieval law.
ERYMS (BAG) : 1998.203.2	4th Battalion, East Yorkshire Regiment dance card. Grey cover with black print, 'Band Ball held at the Beverley Road Baths on Friday, 6th February, 1914.' There is a crest at the top with 'South Africa 1900-1902' underneath.
ERYMS (BAG) : 1998.203.3	Soldier's small brown cloth/card covered book (service record), written on the front is 'Name. L.Nicholson, No. 8143, Corps, East Yorkshire Regiment.' Belonged to Levi Nicholson, who came from Beverley. According to a letter folded up inside the book, he died in India on 12th May 1913 (at Kailana), following an operation.
ERYMS (BAG) : 1998.203.4	Silver British War medal awarded to Private J. Goddard, Scots Guards for service in the first world war. On one side is a profile of George V; and on the other is an horseman holding a sword above a shield, with a skeleton at the side.
ERYMS (BAG) : 1998.203.5	Memorial card for John Goodread (age 28) who died on the 2nd November 1914. The card depicts Jesus with his hand over a fallen soldier and an angel hovering above holding a flaming sword. Private Goodread served in the 1st battalion Scots Guards (service no.5545), seeing action in France from 21st August 1914. He is commemorated on the Menin Gate memorial at Ypres (panel 11). He was born in 1886 in St. Helier, Jersey (see 1911 census).
ERYMS : 1996.1571	Photocopy of a colour postcard showing the flags of the East Yorkshire regiment.
ERYMS : 1993.454	B&W photograph of the Camel Corps on desert patrol with Lawrence of Arabia (1917-1918); number of camel corps soldiers in a shallow valley, with skeleton of camel on the right. The Borough of North Wolds minutes for 1978-01-06 note the donation of a painting entitled "Sinai 1917/19" by the Old Comrades Association of the mounted wing of the East Riding Imperial Yeomanry. Perhaps this item??
ERYMS : 1996.41	Colour print of the grave of A Smallwood 140449, Sapper, Royal Engineers, killed 20th September 1917. Arthur Smallwood served with the 37th Field Company of the RE's and is buried at Tyne Cot cemetery, West-Vlaanderen, Belgium.
ERYMS : 1996.1607	Photocopy of an album of B&W and sepia photographs showing members of the East Riding of Yorkshire Imperial Yeomanry. Includes portraits of individual soldiers, scenes from military camps and parades, and group photographs of officers and regimental bands, etc. The majority of images date to before the First World War and a few are captioned with names and other information.
ERYMS : 1996.1632	Photocopy of a B&W photograph showing troops embarking at Driffild railway station in 1914.
ERYMS : 1996.1633	Photocopy of a B&W photograph showing East Riding Yeomanry men having a tea break at Snainton Camp in 1915. They include 'Dick Wilson' and a group of sergeants (Sgt. Drasdo back right). 'Dick Wilson' was possibly Richard Wilson (service no.902), born in Hull, a labourer and son of Thomas Wilson. He joined up on 3/5/1909 at Hull, earned a good conduct badge on 30/8/1916 and was discharged on 1/2/1918 as being no longer physically fit for service. Did not see service overseas (see service record for more on this individual). Colour Sergeant Major Albert William (or Wilhelm) Drasda (or Drasdo) was born in Hull in 1894, the son of Mr. Paul Julius Drasdo, of 81 Beverley Rd., Hull. Service no. 1665, East Riding Yeomanry (suggests enlistment 7th September 1914, possible a re-enlistment given the rank). Transferred to the 10th Battalion East Yorkshire Regiment, as No. 220642. Died of Wounds in France, 6th September 1918 as a Sergeant.

ERYMS : 1996.1634	Photocopy of a B&W photograph showing Arthur Smith, a pianist and soldier in the East Riding of Yorkshire Yeomanry. Location possibly Driffield. May possibly be identical with Arthur H. Smith, whose medal card gives him the rank of Sapper (he served in the Royal Engineers both before and after his service in the Yeomanry) and the service number 2230.
ERYMS : 1996.1635	Photocopy of a B&W photograph showing the band of the East Riding of Yorkshire Yeomanry at Driffield (July 1915), with a charabanc.
ERYMS : 1996.1636	Photocopy of a sepia photograph showing Dick Thompson and Joe Reading in East Riding Yeomanry uniform, enjoying a drink at Salisbury in 1912. This was one of ERY's annual training camps before the First World War. Reading is known from another photograph to have been a member of the ERY's band. Note the caps being worn with their brims to the rear!
ERYMS : 1996.1637	Photocopy of a B&W photograph showing Walt Turton and D.Twiddle (East Riding Yeomanry) at Dalton camp, 1910. This was one of the annual training camps undertaken by the ERY to keep the men up to a professional standard. 'D. Twiddle' was probably Thomas Daniel Twiddle, born at North Burton, East Yorkshire in 1874. He married Edith Landamore (from Lockington) in 1899. In the 1901 census he is living at Molescroft, Beverley, working as a farm foreman, whilst in 1911 he had moved to Octon, Thwing. He died in 1963.
ERYMS : 1996.1638	Photocopy of a B&W photograph showing a group of East Riding Yeomanry soldiers relaxing at Dalton camp, 1910. This was one of the regiment's annual training camps before the First World War. The two sergeant major seated in the middle both appear to have three stars on their sleeves, indicating fifteen years service.
ERYMS : 1996.1639	Photocopy of a B&W photograph showing a crowd of East Riding Yeomanry soldiers and civilians at Dalton camp, 1910. This was one of the Regiment's pre-war annual training camps and this photograph evidently depicts some kind of 'open day', when the public were allowed to visit the camp.
ERYMS : 1996.1640	Photocopy of a sepia photograph showing a group of East Riding Yeomanry soldiers from Driffield posing in front of tents. Probably taken at the annual training camp at Dalton in 1910.
ERYMS : 1996.1641	Photocopy of a B&W photograph showing a parade of soldiers in a street in Driffield, probably taken during the first world war.
ERYMS : 1996.963	Assorted B&W photographs, postcards and documents relating to the East Riding Imperial Yeomanry, some card mounted. Includes material relating to the First World War, the inter war period (when the ERY acquired armoured cars) and the Second World War.
ERYMS : 1996.1578	Photocopies of colour certificates awarded to Elizabeth Speck for giving Christmas gifts to British service men, dated 1915 & 1916.
ERYMS : 1996.432	Brass plaque presented by the National War Savings Committee to the citizens of Beverley after the first world war. Inscribed: "In recognition of the readiness with which they lent their money to the country in the financial campaigns carried out by the local War Savings committee during the Great War, 1914-1918". Stamped British Metal (Kingston) Ltd. There are six attachment holes around the edges, and an attempt at cleaning has left a lighter patch at the bottom left. From Bridlington Town Hall.
ERYMS : 1996.1080	Menu for a 'complimentary' dinner to a few of the Bridlington men of Kitchener's army at the golf house, Bridlington, 7th November 1914. Signed on front A.W. West., with other signatures on the back.
ERYMS (BAG) : 1998.24	Wagoners Special Reserve plaque in gilt wood frame, decorated with a horse's head inside a blue oval band on a gold background. On the back is printed 'Hand painted' and a design consisting of an armoured arm and hand holding a shield with two S's on it. Produced by Stelric studios in Hull. There are also two badges - one of the WSR, which has the same design as the plaque, and one of the Royal Engineers in the shape of a golden wreath topped with a crown and blue bands printed with 'Honi Soit Qui mal y pense' and 'Royal Engineers'
ERYMS (BAG) : 1998.25	Two military steel spurs with a brown leather strap. Stamped with serial number 38918. Probably dates from the first world war period.
ERYMS (BAG) : 1998.27.2	Embroidered lace & silk card. 'Forget me not' is in blue capitals flanked by violet flowers, also the colours of Britain, France & Italy. Contains a small card marked 'To my father'. Printed on the back is 'fabrication francaise'

ERYMS (BAG) : 1998.348	A German WWI propaganda medal depicting Lloyd George. Dated 19th July and 4th August 1917. One side depicts him giving an impassioned speech to an audience; and the other has him standing with his left hand on a shield and holding a palm frond in his right. Raised lettering in German around edges.
ERYMS (BAG) : 1998.351	World War One plaque or 'death penny' in the name of Arthur Farmery. It is decorated with the figure of Britannia holding a staff and a wreath, a lion in the foreground, and two dolphins at the sides. Also the words 'He died for freedom and honour'. The name of the deceased appears in a rectangular space to the right of the design. Perhaps Lance Corporal A.E. Farmery, of the Prince of Wales's Own (West Yorkshire) Regiment, service number 49042, who was killed on 20/11/1917, aged 33. He is buried at Hermes Hill cemetery, Pas de Calais.
ERYMS (BAG) : 1998.356	Letter from the M.O.D. regarding medals awarded to Robert Thynne of the East Yorkshire Regiment. Also a card & envelope and a newspaper cutting. See also 1998.360 (birth certificate) and 1998.28 (medals). Thynne was a private in the East Yorkshire Regiment (service number 34130).
ERYMS (BAG) : 1998.358	A round medal on a faded ribbon. On one side is the Beverley shield and 'To commemorate victory and peace. The Great War 1914-1919'. On the other side is an army soldier facing a navy sailor.
ERYMS (BAG) : 1998.386	Framed scroll commemorating those who died in the War. There is a coat of arms at the top and the soldier's name written in red ink at the bottom. 'Pte. William Tolchard, East Yorkshire Regt'. Glazed, plain black wood frame with a label on the back for 'Boots picture framing and art department'. Private William Danile Tolchard (service number 1467) of the 12th Battalion East Yorkshire Regiment, died on 4/12/1916, aged 37. He is buried at Etaples Military Cemetery. He was the son of Henry Ponsonby & Louise Tolchard and was married to Lilian. They lived in Park Road, Hull.
ERYMS (BAG) : 1998.407	Brass plate presented by the National War Savings Committee to the citizens of Beverley after World War One.
ERYMS (BAG) : 1998.225	Certificate relating to various war memorials, mainly the Helles Memorial, Gallipoli. Printed with five images of memorials with a central design that has space to add further information. Glued into this space is a piece of paper printed with the words 'Cooper, Cpl. William Baker, 10636. 6th Bn. Yorkshire Regt. 22nd Aug., 1915. Age 23. He was born in 1892 at Leven, East Yorkshire, the son of William and Clara Jane Cooper. His father was a police superintendant and William Baker was one of 7 children recorded in that household in the 1901 census. See also 1998.226 (letters) and 1998.300 (death penny)
ERYMS (BAG) : 1998.226	Collection of four letters (medal citations) and a scroll for 1914-1915 Star (date: 20.04.20), Victory Medal (03.11.21) and British War Medal (19.11.20) for private W.B. (William Baker) Cooper (acting corporal). There is also a letter from Buckingham Palace 'I join with my grateful people in sending you this memorial of a brave life given for others in the Great War', signed George. R.I. There is also a cardboard tube issued by the Infantry Record Office that contained the scroll. See also 1998.225 (certificate) and 1998.300 (death penny). He was born in 1892 at Leven, East Yorkshire, the son of William and Clara Jane Cooper. His father was a police superintendant and William Baker was one of 7 children recorded in that household in the 1901 census.
ERYMS (BAG) : 1998.300	Posthumous World War One service medal awarded to William Baker Cooper. Of the type popularly known as the "Death penny." The design includes Britannia holding a staff and a wreath, a lion in the foreground and two dolphins at the sides. The name of the deceased appears in a rectangular space on the right. Maker's mark ECP in small letters bottom right. William Baker Cooper, then an Acting Corporal in the 6th Battalion, Princess of Wales's Own (Yorkshire Regiment) and a resident of Scarborough, was killed in action at Gallipoli on 22nd August 1915 (serial number 10636) aged 23 and is commemorated on the Helles memorial in Turkey. He was born in 1892 at Leven, East Yorkshire, the son of William and Clara Jane Cooper. His father was a police superintendant and William Baker was one of 7 children recorded in that household in the 1901 census. See also 1998.225 & 226 (letters and certificate).
ERYMS (BAG) : 1997.672	Black and white photo of ambulance presented to the British army in WWI by the Borough of Beverley. Card mount
ERYMS (BAG) : 1997.719	Black and white postcard of a WWI British soldier in Khaki uniform, peaked cap and bandolier. A note with it states it is of Levi Nicholson who died in 1913 in India while serving in the East Yorkshire Regiment. (also see 1998.203.3 for his 'Soldier's Book'). Nicholson was born in Beverley.
ERYMS (BAG) : 1997.741	Black and white photograph of a motorised ambulance given to the British Army by the Borough of Beverley during WWI. Card mount

ERYMS (BAG) : 1997.746	Sepia photograph showing a large group of army officers and men posed in front of a building, possibly Lairgate Hall, Beverley. They are members of the 3rd Battalion, East Yorkshire Regiment.

ERYMS (BAG) : 1997.789	Black and white photograph of a soldier in WWI uniform and a postcard of St Hilda's church, Ravenscar (Homewords Nr 165), with the name William Cooper on the reverse.
ERYMS (BAG) : 1997.794	Black and white photograph of 12 soldiers in front of a brick building (members of the East Yorkshire Regiment) wearing pith helmets and puttees. First World War period.
ERYMS (BAG) : 1998.682	Sepia photograph of 4 rows of soldiers in front of a columned gateway (Lairgate Hall, Beverley). Officers and NCO's for Beverley Company 3rd (vol) Battalion East Yorkshire Regiment.
ERYMS (Goole) : G491	Bronze plaque commemorating Harold Kynman, who was killed in WWI. Shows a lion and Britannia holding a wreath, with two dolphins on the reverse. Inscribed - 'He died for freedom and honour, Harold Kynman'. A 'Victory Plaque', sometimes described as a 'death penny'. Born in Goole (in 1891) and listed at 21 Kingston Street, Goole in the 1911 census (living with his widowed mother Mary Ann), Kynman was a labourer before the war. He enlisted at Goole as a private in the 1/5th Battalion King's Own Yorkshire Light Infantry (service number 242344). He served in France from 13/4/1915 and was killed in action on 23rd July 1917. He was awarded the military medal and is buried at the Ramscappelle Road military cemetery in Belgium.
ERYMS (Goole) : G400	1914 - 1918 British War medal, with a black, blue, white and orange ribbon. Awarded to Sergeant A. Jackson of the 2nd East Yorkshire Regiment. Portrait of George V on the obverse side, horseman on the reverse side.
ERYMS : 1995.734	Matching pair of steel swords, each with a curved blade and brass hilt. The grips are wooden. Each sword is contained in a steel scabbard, which has a pair of suspension loops and a plain, flattened chape at the tip. Probably WWI cavalry swords, perhaps associated with the East Riding Yeomanry.
ERYMS : 1995.730.1	Dress uniform, red and pale blue tunic, gold and red belt, tunic double breasted and contains twelve brass buttons, gold sash and lanyard, royal blue trousers with pale blue stripe, black leather boots with spurs, straight bladed steel sword with large wrist guard (plated), gold and red sword belt. Bequeathed by Mr Woodhouse, a former Lord of the Manor of Flamborough. Other donations by Woodhouse are listed as bequests from him, (after death) via Barclays Bank Trust Co Ltd. 1 Pall Mall East, London. The uniform is of the East Riding of Yorkshire Yeomanry, in which Woodhouse served as an officer before and during WWI.
ERYMS (BAG) : 1998.28	Brass Princess Mary gift box (1914) with three medals attached. These boxes, containing special rations were issued to the men in the trenches in the first winter of World War I. The box lid is embossed with a woman's head in the centre surrounded by leaves and flanked by two M's. Clockwise around the edge are the names of the Allied Powers 'Imperium Britannicum, Japan, Russia, Monte Negro, Christmas 1914, Servia, France, Belgium'. The medals are as follows; 1. A 1914 - 1918 medal with horseman on the reverse. Awarded to Private R[obert]. Thynne of the East Yorkshire Regiment. 2. A 1914 - 1915 star with red/white/blue ribbon, awarded to private A. Watmough A.S.C. 3. Brass victory medal, with winged victory on reverse and legend 'The Great War for civilisation, 1914 - 1919'. Awarded to Private A. Farmery 11th battalion A.I.F. See also 1998.360 (birth certificate) and 1998.356 (letter). Private Thynne's medal card gives him the service number 34130. Private Watmough probably Angus Watmough (1889-1940) from Bradford, who served with the Army Service Corps in France from 27/5/1915 (service number M2/045764) and was discharged to reserves 20/6/1919. Awarded the usual three campaign medals including the 1914-15 star.
ERYMS (Goole) : M679.1	Black and white photograph showing the outside of a War Savings Association Card belonging to Charles Osgerby of Long Lane Beverley. Issued 13.3.1919
ERYMS (Goole) : M679.2	Black and white photograph showing the inside of a War Savings Association Card (M679.1). The stamps inside have a Swastika design, indicating that this sign was used by the British to help the war effort at this time. Issued 13.3.1919

ERYMS (Goole) : M1458	Postcard 'Memories' - a First World War verse.
ERYMS (Goole) : M1459	Postcard 'Faith' - a First World War verse.

ERYMS (Goole) : G686	Photograph album relating to the bombardment of the town of Albert in France during World War I. Some photographs or postcards have been removed.
ERYMS : 1995.742	Khaki uniform of a Major in the Royal Artillery and Territorial Army Unit, 1914-1918. Consists of: a soft peaked cap with badge (bearing a field gun with crown above and scroll beneath, legend 'ubique uoq fas et gloria dugunt'); khaki tunic with brass buttons; khaki shirt and tie; khaki trousers with turnups, leather 'Sam Brown' belt; leather sword sheath. A sword in a leather scabard and boots would have completed the outfit.
ERYMS : 1995.388	Four aluminium medallions, two with white ribbons, six sided. Legend - "Celebrating peace to the honour of the armed forces", with Bridlington coat of arms. Issued in 1919 by Mayor Ernest Lambert of Bridlington, to celebrate the end of the First World War.
ERYMS : 1995.402	Bronze medallion. Obverse; "He died for freedom and honour, Hugh Adamson", Britannia holding wreath in left hand, lion standing at Britannia's feet, and dedication. These medallions are popularly known as 'death pennies' because they commemorate fallen British servicemen in WWI. There were at least two Hugh Adamsons who were killed in WWI - one in the Gordon Highlanders and the other in the King's Own Scottish Borderers. It is unclear which one this plaque commemorates.
ERYMS : 1995.715	Silver, obverse - portrait of King looking left. Reverse - man on horse. Issued to 53083 Private G. Saltmer, W Yorks regiment. Legend - "Georgius V Brit. Omn Rex Et Ind. Imp. 1914 - 1919".
ERYMS : 1995.716	Gilt bronze, obverse - winged victory with outstretched left arm. Reverse - a wreath with lettering in centre. Issued to 53083 Private G. Saltmer, W. Yorks regiment. Legend - "The Great War for civilization 1914 -1919". No ribbon.
ERYMS : 1995.717	Bronze commemorative plaque. Legend - "He died for freedom and honour: George Saltmer". Issued for 53063 Private G Saltmer, West Yorkshire Regiment. Saltmer was killed on 29/9/1918 aged 19 and is commemorated on the Vis-en-Artois memorial. He was born in Hull and enlisted in Bridlington on December 28th 1916, aged 17 years and 11 months. He was living at 110 Windsor Crescent, Bridlington, profession assistant signalman. His service record survives.

ERYMS : 1995.720	Bronze WWI memorial plaquel - "He died for freedom and honour, Arthur Smallwood". Popularly known as a "Death penny", they were issued for each British serviceman killed in WWI. Smallwood served with the 37th Field Company of the RE's and is buried at Tyne Cot cemetery, West-Vlaanderen, Belgium.
ERYMS : 1995.728	Silver 1914-18 British war medal. Obverse - King's head facing left. Reverse - man on horse. Ribbon orange, red, dark and light blue. Obverse - "Georgius V Britt. Omn. Rex et Ind. Imp" Reverse: - "1914-1918, 19.A. Cpl D. Brown, R.A.M.C." (Royal Army Medical Corps)
ERYMS : 1995.729	Bronze. obverse - winged victory. Reverse - wreath enclosing lettering, multi coloured ribbon of red, yellow, green, blue and purple. Legend - "The great war for civilization 1914-1919"
ERYMS : 1995.730.2	Blue and black square topped, leather and cloth helmet (modelled on the Polish "czapka"), large brass badge at front decorated with fluting and scrolls with lettering "East Riding of Yorkshire Imperial Yeomanry", also a running fox with monogram and crown above. Attached to helmet a blue feather plume. Gilt linked chain chinstrap. This is a pre WWI dress uniform helmet, the design reflecting the fact that the ERY were technically part of the Corps of Lancers. Worn by Gerald Herbert Woodhouse, who was an officer in the ERY before and during the war.
ERYMS : 1995.731.1	Dress uniform, double breasted red and blue tunic with fourteen brass buttons. On left sleeve, crossed rifles (marksman's badge) and star, on right sleeve 5 stars (indicating 25 years service) with crown above. Royal blue trousers with light blue stripe, black leather boots with spurs, light blue and red belt, yellow lanyard. Stamped on buttons "East Riding of Yorkshire Imperial Yeomanry" Worn by Sergeant Major Brown, this pattern of uniform was introduced in 1906. White doe skin gloves would also have been worn. The trousers (made by Henry Poole & Co. of 37-39 Savile Row, London) have a label inside the waistband with a partially legible name in ink - possibly Henry Sandys. The boots are labelled inside "R. Coton & Co., 24 Coney Street, York. Laundry labels on both jacket and trousers appear to read 'J. Crowe.' No service record or medal card traced for Sergeant Major Brown. Henry M. Sandys was a 2nd Lieutenant in the pre war ERY, so this could actually be a composite of different uniform parts.
ERYMS : 1995.731.2	Cloth 'pill box' hat, red with pale blue horizontal strip, gold pom-pom and thin black leather chin strap. This style of hat was used by trumpeters in the East Riding Yeomanry and was probably part of the dress uniform introduced in 1903.
ERYMS : 1995.732.1	Field uniform jacket of the East Riding Yeomanry. Khaki with two breast pockets and side pockets, brown buttons with running foxes on each side of neck.
ERYMS : 1995.732.2	Coarse cloth, band above rim, left side of rim has piece of blue cloth containing a badge comprising a running fox. Brown leather chin strap.
ERYMS : 1995.732.3	Leather "Sam Brown" waist belt and brass buckle with cross shoulder straps, attached to lower part of belt a holder for scabbard. Used by J. Woodhouse of the East Riding Imperial Yeomanry, who was an officer in the regiment before and during WWI.
ERYMS : 1995.732.4	Brown leather and steel, made for a straight bladed sword. Used by J. Woodhouse of the East Riding Imperial Yeomanry, who was an officer in the regiment before and during WWI.
ERYMS : 1995.732.5	Straight blade, guard with pierced decoration and monogram, with crown above. Plated steel. Used by J. Woodhouse of the East Riding Imperial Yeomanry, who was an officer in the regiment before and during WWI.

ERYMS (Goole) : M1732	Military Small Book (in khaki card cover) of Private Albert Cowling, of the 6th Battalion the Kings Own Yorkshire Light Infantry, of Reedness near Goole. Born in 1897 at Reedness, the son of a farmer, he was a farm horseman working for his widowed mother Anne at the time of the 1911 census. He enlisted on 25th August 1914 (service number 12133), served in France and died of his wounds on 20th August 1915. He is buried at St. Sever cemetery, Rouen.
ERYMS : 1996.35.4	B/W postcard showing two British army soldiers of the First World War era holding "swagger sticks". They are dressed in khaki uniforms, including puttees on their legs. The man on the right is William Henry Waites, the donor's great grandfather (born 1888, Driffield). He worked as an assistant at Lovel's, a butcher, on Queens St. Driffield, and was consequently known as 'Butch'. Served as a Private in the Yorkshire Regiment and in the RAF, being awarded the usual three campaign medals. He was gassed in the war, and after being invalided out, he returned to Lovel's where he was gored by a bull in the slaughter house and later died of his injuries (1922). William Henry (23), wife Dorothy Ellen (then 22) and daughter Ellen (1) are recorded at 2 Queen Street, Driffield in the 1911 census. Pasted to the back is a photograph of an oriental building labelled "Temple of Heaven". The photographs came from 14 Northfield Road, where Mrs Slee's great grandmother and most of the Waites family lived. The photographs were gifted for the 1994 Driffield Exhibition.

ERYMS : 1996.35.8	Postcard from Private J.W. Waites, newly recruited into the 5th battalion of the Yorkshire Regiment, (stationed at barracks in Scarborough) to his sister in law. The message on the back reads: "Dear Sister in law, just a few lines to you, hoping you are well it leaves me at present we are having a good time and you tell I have from [2 words illegible] yours truly Pte J.W. Waites 5th Batt P.W.O. Falgrave(?) barracks, St. John(?) Road, Scarboro." The photographs came from 14 Northfield Road, Driffield, where Mrs Slee's great grandmother and most of the Waites family lived. The photographs were gifted for the 1994 Driffield Exhibition.
ERYMS : 1996.35.11	'The terrors of the 5th Yorks'. Postcard from Jack Dunning to his sister May, at 3 Florence Place, Queen Street, Driffield. Shows a group of British army soldiers in a camp with tents, watching a boxing match. Jack Dunning is marked with an 'x'. Message reads: "Dear May. Can you pick me out. Me all right. We had a 14 miles march on Monday. Hope all right at home. From your loving brother Jack." Postmarked Richmond, Yorkshire, July 13th 1909. Part of group of photos from 14 Northfield Road, where Mrs Slee's great grandmother and most of the Waites family lived. The photographs were gifted for the 1994 Driffield Exhibition. Some are on album pages.
ERYMS (Goole) : G662	War memorial to the vessels SS Hebble, SS Rye and SS Unity, all sunk by enemy action in 1917-1918. They were owned by Associated Humber Lines Ltd. Metal plaque on wooden mount, with flags painted in red, white and blue. It gives the names of the ships and the sailors lost.
ERYMS (Goole) : G665	Royal Army Medical Corps training book, used by the 5th Battalion of the East Yorkshire Regiment cyclist on 3rd February 1912. With cloth cover
ERYMS : 1996.35.17	Sepia postcard, showing members of the Waites family of Driffield. Dorothy, 'Butch' and their three children Bidy, Nancy and Ellen are posed in a garden in front of a house. The postcard is addressed to Mrs Waites, of 3 Florence Place, Queen Street. See also 1996.35.19, which shows a different family in front of the same house. The man is William Henry Waites (born 1888, Driffield), the donor's great grandfather. He worked as an assistant at Lovel's, a butcher, on Queens St. Driffield, and was consequently known as 'Butch'. Served as a Private in the Yorkshire Regiment and in the RAF, being awarded the usual three campaign medals. He was gassed in the war, and after being invalided out, he returned to Lovel's where he was gored by a bull in the slaughter house and later died of his injuries (1922). William Henry (23), wife Dorothy Ellen (then 22) and daughter Ellen (1) are recorded at 2 Queen Street, Driffield in the 1911 census. The photograph came from 14 Northfield Road, where Mrs Slee's great grandmother and most of the Waites family lived and was gifted for the 1994 Driffield Exhibition. Driffield? Kelly's Directory for 1921 lists Philip Lovel, butcher & poultry dealer at 63 Middle Street South, Driffield.
ERYMS : 1996.35.18	B/W postcard showing a group of five soldiers (NCO's) posed outside a building. Two seated on steps in front, the other three standing behind. One of the latter is marked with a cross. Probably WWI period. On the back is pencilled "Jack Dunning Robson." There is also a very faint message in pencil. The photograph came from 14 Northfield Road, where Mrs Slee's great grandmother and most of the Waites family lived. The photographs were gifted for the 1994 Driffield Exhibition. Driffield?
ERYMS : 1996.35.19	Sepia postcard, showing neighbours of the Waites family of Driffield. Family is posed in garden in front of a house. Husband (with moustache and in British army uniform, with cross belt and puttees) seated, with wife(?) holding baby also seated and two young sons and a daughter standing. Mrs Bollon believes their name to be Brigham. This is the same house as shown in 1996.35.17. The husband also appears in 1996.35.20. The photograph came from 14 Northfield Road, where Mrs Slee's great grandmother and most of the Waites family lived and was gifted for the 1994 Driffield exhibition. The soldier could be Frank Brigham (born in Driffield and lived at various addresses there). His service record (on ancestry.co.uk) indicates that he served in the Territorial Force from 1908. During WWI he served in the 5th Battalion Yorkshire Regiment and then in the KOYLI, achieving the rank of lance corporal. He was born in 1883 and worked as an oil mill pressman before the war. Service no. 235888.
ERYMS : 1996.35.20	Sepia postcard. Soldier posed in garden in front of a house (with moustache and in British army uniform, with cross belt and puttees). The word "Uncle" is written in pencil underneath. This is the same house as shown in 1996.35.17 and .19 - the same man appears in 1996.35.19. The soldier could be Frank Brigham (born in Driffield and lived at various addresses there). His service record (on ancestry.co.uk) indicates that he served in the Territorial Force from 1908. During WWI he served in the 5th Battalion Yorkshire Regiment and then in the KOYLI, achieving the rank of lance corporal. He was born in 1883 and worked as an oil mill pressman before the war. Service no. 235888. The photograph came from 14 Northfield Road, Driffield, where Mrs Slee's great grandmother and most of the Waites family lived and was gifted for the 1994 Driffield Exhibition. 1996.35.20-.23 are mounted back to back and side to side on a single sheet of paper.

ERYMS : 1996.36.1	Portion of b/w photograph showing a group of soldiers under an open sided structure - a railway station platform(?). Some in uniform, some wholly or partly in civilian clothes. Perhaps mostly new recruits (though there are some NCO's) as several are holding documents (call up papers?) WWI period. From group of approximately 23 miscellaneous postcard, photographs and documents, evidently once part of a family album (some still on album pages when received). Possibly relate to Driffield. The rest of the collection are as follows; a postcard with nurse and wounded soldier; Postcard with picture of man with 2 babies on his lap and 'I'm a happy lad, I'm not a daddy' has been written on; Postcard of Redcar, England; Street scene 'Moorpark, Renfrew'; hand written card 'For Harry'; Sailor and woman holding hands 'For ever and ever, Though seas may divide us, Our thoughts will unite us'; Postcard of Hase Temple Kamakuura; Embroidered card 'To my dear sister'; Photo of 'The old curiosity shop, London'; Church parade, Aldershot, Queens avenue; Views of Haltwhistle; 5th Batt. A.P.W.D Yorks Regt. No.15 Band photograph; Madonna and child card; Waterloo Place, Londonderry; Happy Birthday card showing 3 children in an oval tinted magenta centre; Small boy in uniform in front of a bench; Richmond sports 3 legged race; Christmas 1916 showing ships at sea under an angel rainbow, Photo of large house 'Becourt, The Castle'; Torn card showing a military band; 'A Prayer in Suffering' written in calligraphy.
ERYMS : 2001.83.1	7 black/white &amp; sepia photographs relating to the Yorkshire Mounted Brigade Camp (Yorkshire Dragoons, Yorkshire Hussars, East Riding Yeomanry) at Bulford, Salisbury Plain, May-June 1912. Mostly cut down from postcards, so in some cases, writing runs off the edges on the backs.
ERYMS : 2001.83.2	11 black/white photographs relating to the East Riding Yeomanry at the Scarborough Camp (Black Shed Farm, Stepney Road), 1913. One showing a group of Yeomanry in full dress uniform on parade, has one soldier marked "H.W." (=Harold W. Lyon, of Market Weighton, who was later a Sergeant in the regiment). Several show men in full dress uniform attending a church service, another has men in working clothing holding horse feeding bags.
ERYMS : 2001.83.3	Black/white photograph relating to the East Riding Yeomanry at the York Camp, 1914. Members of the Pocklington Troop cleaning saddlery. They are wearing peaked service caps, white shirts, waistcoats and uniform trousers with a blue stripe.
ERYMS : 2001.83.4	13 black &amp; white / sepia photographs relating to the East Riding Yeomanry at various locations in North / East Yorkshire and Norfolk, in 1914-1915, including Sewerby Hall, Kilnwick, Filey and Riddlesworth. They relate to the period after the regiment was mobilised and before its service overseas. Mostly cut down postcards.
ERYMS : 2001.83.5	11 black &amp; white / sepia photographs relating to the East Riding Yeomanry camp at Costessey Park, Norwich, August-October 1915. This was the last training camp before the unit was sent off for active service in Egypt/Palestine. Cut down from postcard size, so messages on the backs are truncated and generally indecipherable. They include shots of the YMCA tent, posed groups and individuals, including Sergeant Harold Lyon of Market Weighton - who probably took most of the photographs himself.
ERYMS : 2001.103	Short, dark blue jacket with light blue lapels, cuffs, collar and shoulder boards. With East Riding Imperial Yeomanry badges and buttons. The name "Lt. Col. Langdale" is inside the collar. Probably a mess jacket. Presumably belonged to Ltr. Col. Philip Joseph Langdale O.B.E., who served in the Yeomanry during WWI. Langdale was a significant figure in the East Riding gentry, coming from a family who had owned Houghton Hall near Sancton since the 14th century. He was a J.P. and a Councillor for Londesborough.
ERYMS : 2001.94	B/W photograph showing members of the East Riding Imperial Yeomanry at Hagar Mashguk, during the Egypt/Palestine campaign of 1917. This oddly shaped rock was used by the ERY during 1916 as a lookout post to observe traffic along the caravan routes to the Nile valley.
ERYMS : 2001.91	Book "Trumpet &amp; bugle sounds of the Army" - once belonged to Bandmaster Brocklesby, of the East Riding Imperial Yeomanry. Possibly Arthur Brocklesby, whose notebook is in the East Riding Arhives collections (reference DEDYC/1/8/3).
ERYMS : 2001.92	Book: "The Yarn of a Yeoman", published by Hutchinson &amp; Co. Ltd, sometime after WWI. With a foreword by Field Marshal Allenby, who commanded the British Army during the campaigns in Egypt/Palestine against the Turks, leading to the entry into Jerusalem in DEcember 1917 and victory in the autumn of 1918. Though primarily about the Middlesex Imperial Yeomanry, much of it is applicable to the East Riding Imperial Yeomanry, who also took part in this campaign (in 1915-17). The book evidently once belonged to Harold W. Lyon (of Market Weighton), who was a Sergeant in the ERIY. His handwritten notes include details of his own service, as well as charting the progress of the unit through the campaign. Most poignantly, one of the maps shows the progress of the regiment and indicates places where named comrades were killed or wounded.
ERYMS :	Wooden kit box of a member of the East Riding Imperial Yeomanry. Lid painted with white

2001.105	lettering: "E.R. of Y. Impl Yeomanry E.G. B.61." It is not known which soldier this box belonged to.
ERYMS : 2001.93	B/W photo of Wadi Ain Arik in the Judean hills NW of Jerusalem. Relates to the East Riding Imperial Yeomanry campaign in Palestine/Egypt during WWI - the regiment fought in this area during November 1917.
ERYMS : 2001.95	East Riding Yeomanry Old Comrades Association constitution & rules. 16 pages, blue cover. The ERY served in Palestine / Egypt during WWI and the Association was formed after the end of the war.
ERYMS : 2001.96	East Riding Yeomanry Christmas card, with motto "Forrard" on front. Secured by a blue ribbon. Image shows ERY troopers during the WWI campaign in Egypt and Palestine, a reproduction of an oil painting. The photograph is based on an original painting.
ERYMS : 2001.97	East Riding Yeomanry Christmas card, with motto "Forrard" on front. Secured by a ribbon. Image shows ERY troops/vehicles of WWI and WWII periods, with Beverley Minster in the background.
ERYMS : 2001.98	Pencil and typed notes relating to lantern slides of the East Riding Yeomanry during WWI (see 2001.88 for slides). Probably produced by Harold W. Lyon (of Market Weighton), who was a Sergeant in the regiment.
ERYMS : 2001.99	Four items relating to the East Riding Yeomanry during WWI: Two newspaper clippings about Old Comrades reunions, a lantern slide lecture (in 1937) given by former Sergeant H.W. Lyon and a map of Egypt/Sinai showing ERY movements during the 1916-17 campaign.
ERYMS : 2001.100	Khaki army pocket book relating to Sergeant H.W. Lyon, of Market Weighton (service number 50100), who served in the East Riding Yeomanry & Machine Gun Corps during WWI - in Egypt and Palestine. Contains two photographs of him. One of these is marked "HW Lyon, Cairo, Egypt, March 1918, age almost 25."
ERYMS : 2001.101	Metal identity disk for Sergeant H.W. Lyon, of the East Riding Yeomanry / Machine Gun Corps (numbered 50100). Attached to a card label.
ERYMS : 2001.104	Wooden cane with a hallmarked silver head stamped POTTER, LONDON. With steel tip and band, plus loops - presumably for a cord. Possibly a company Sergeant Major's cane.
ERYMS : 2001.83.6	14 B/W photos of the East Riding Yeomanry at Deir-El-Azab, Fayoum Oasis, Egypt, in November 1915. This was Brigade headquarters when the ERY was posted in the area during WWI.
ERYMS : 2001.83.7	4 B/W photos of the East Riding Yeomanry at Abu Gandir, Fayoum Oasis, Egypt, in March 1916 (mostly of transport animals - donkeys and camels).
ERYMS : 2001.83.8	27 B/W photos of the East Riding Yeomanry at Gharack West, Fayoum Oasis, Egypt, in the summer of 1916. Topics covered include shots of A Squadron, the Camel Corps, transport animals, trenches being dug etc.
ERYMS : 2001.83.9	8 B/W photos of the East Riding Yeomanry at Kom Medinet Madi, Egypt, in the summer of 1916. Topics covered include shots of individual soldiers, outposts and local people.
ERYMS : 2001.83.10	25 B/W photos of the East Riding Yeomanry at Cairo, Egypt, in 1916. Mostly views of the pyramids, the hospital and other buildings.
ERYMS : 2001.83.11	25 B/W photos of the East Riding Yeomanry at Alexandria/Port Said, Egypt, in 1916-17. Mostly views of buildings, ships in harbour, some of transport animals and a few of soldiers training or relaxing.
ERYMS : 2001.83.12	57 B/W photos of the East Riding Yeomanry in Egypt and Palestine, 1916-1917.
ERYMS : 2001.83.13	23 B/W photos of the East Riding Yeomanry in Palestine during the period 28/10/1917 to 30/11/1917, including the 3rd battle of Gaza. This was the high point of the ERY's involvement in the Egypt/Palestine campaign, including the cavalry charge at El Mughar and some tough fighting in the Judean hills NW of Jerusalem. The photographs (taken by Sergeant Harold W. Lyon) were mostly made into postcards and later cut down, so much of the writing now runs off the edges.
ERYMS : 2001.83.14	Quantity of B/W photos, postcards and newspaper cuttings of the East Riding Yeomanry at various locations 1914-1918 (including Pocklington troop, A Squadron, at Seaham Hall, county Durham, in the spring of 1915). Also items relating to the Old Comrades Association for the regiment in the 1930's to 1960's and a post World War II visit to Egypt by H.W. Lyon. Evidently collected (in some cases produced) by Harold W. Lyon of Market Weighton, who was a Sergeant in the regiment and who appears in some of the photographs and newspaper stories.
ERYMS : 2001.85	2 steel military spurs, with leather straps. Probably WWI period.

ERYMS : 2001.89	Documents relating to the East Riding Imperial Yeomanry in WWI: 1. Extracts from the Official History of the War - Military operations - Egypt & Palestine, Vol. I. 2. Typed sheets headed "The East Riding of Yorkshire Yeomanry 1914-1918", compiled by Sergeant H.W. Lyon of Market Weighton. 3. Minutes of the Old Comrades Association (Mounted Wing), August 1965. 4. Typed chronology for "A" squadron during the Egypt/Palestine campaign (compiled by H. Lyon). 5. Typed extracts from "The Fire of Life" by General Sir George de S. Barrow, compiled by W.L. Palmer of the Old Comrades Association. Is an account of the ERY's involvement in the campaign. 6. Typed notes entitled "The Tale of a Yeoman" detailing H.W. Lyon's part in the Palestine campaign. These accompanied his lantern lecture, but break off at slide 57 (December 1916). 7. Handwritten notes by H. Lyon, evidently a continuation of the above, as they mention slides 58-69. They cover December 1916 to October 1917. 8. Another section of the above, typed in blue ink (with passages in red). Numerous crossings out and amendments, but evidently refers to the latter part of H. Lyon's lecture. 9. Handwritten list of 119 lantern slides (in blue ink). 10. Pencil/ink notes on the Palestine campaign, including section on Third Battle of Gaza. 11. Typed list of negatives to be printed compiled by H. Lyon. See also 2001.88 - two boxes of associated lantern slides.
ERYMS : 2001.86	2 military khaki caps. One has a blue cloth band (therefore East Riding Yeomanry), the other a leather band. Probably WWI period.
ERYMS : 2001.88	Two wooden boxes containing glass lantern slides of the East Riding Imperial Yeomanry during the Palestine campaign in WWI (1915-1918). The images were produced by Harold W. Lyon (of Market Weighton), who was a Sergeant in the regiment. The slides themselves were made by an F.H. Marlow (based in Oxford Circus, London). (See 2001.88.1 .2 etc for individual slides). See 2001/89 for lecture notes and other associated documents.
ERYMS : 2002.1.1	Documents (and 1 b/w photograph) relating to service by Thomas Henry Reed (of Hull) in the Labour Corps of the East Yorkshire Regiment, 1914-1919. Reed was born in 1896 and attended Clifton Street School, Hull. In the 1911 census he was recorded at 21 Providence Row, Hull, along with three brothers and four sisters. His father, George Reed, was a chimney sweep. Thomas Henry worked as a labourer at a sawmill before joining up on 31st August 1914 with the East Yorkshire Regiment. He later served with the Labour Corps (perhaps due to health issues?) and reached the rank of Corporal Cook (he is probably the corporal in the centre of the photograph), before being discharged in 1919. He died at Bridlington in 1991. Part of the Reed-Dodgson family archive, most of which relates to Bridlington.
ERYMS : 2001.16.1	Three items relating to Private H. Robinson (from Nafferton) of the 13th Battalion, East Yorkshire Regiment: 1. Envelope addressed to Mrs J. Robinson, of Driffield, with stamp of the Directory of War Graves, dated 2/11/1917. 2. Card folder containing small b/w photo of the grave of Private Robinson. He died of his wounds on May 7th 1917 aged 25 and was buried at St. Catherine's British cemetery near Arras. 3. A larger version of the grave photo on a card mount. The 1911 census records him at Middle Street, Nafferton, aged 18, a merchant's clerk. He was the son of John Robinson (a tailor) and his wife Laura.
ERYMS : 2001.16.2	Two items relating to Private H. Robinson (from Nafferton) of the 13th Battalion, East Yorkshire Regiment. Letters with royal crest and "Buckingham Palace" in red and with signature of King George V at the bottom. The letters read: "I join with my grateful people in sending you this memorial of a brave life given for others in the Great War."
ERYMS : 2001.16.3	Memorial scroll relating to Private Henry Robinson (from Nafferton) of the 13th Battalion, East Yorkshire Regiment. With royal coat of arms at the top.
ERYMS : 2001.16.4	World War I Remembrance medal (popularly known as a "Death Penny"), awarded for private Henry Robinson (of Nafferton). He served in the East Yorkshire Regiment and was killed in 1917. Obverse: Britannia with trident and wreath, lion and space for name. Legend "HE DIED FOR FREEDOM AND HONOUR." Reverse blank. In paper envelope, within a folding card case.
ERYMS : 2001.16.5	World War I Victory medal, awarded posthumously for private Henry Robinson (of Nafferton). He served in the East Yorkshire Regiment and was killed in 1917. Sent to Mrs L.A. Robinson, of Driffield, in 1922. Gilt metal with multicolour striped ribbon. Obverse: Victory with branch. Reverse: "The Great War for Civilisation, 1914-1919." In paper packet. Packaging and letter from War Office also preserved. "26064 PTE H. ROBINSON" engraved on edge. The 1911 census records him at Middle Street, Nafferton, aged 18, a merchant's clerk. He was the son of John Robinson (a tailor) and his wife Laura.
ERYMS : 2001.16.6	War medal, awarded posthumously for Private Henry Robinson (of Nafferton). He served in the East Yorkshire Regiment and was killed in 1917. Sent to Mrs L.A. Robinson, of Driffield, in 1922. Silver, with blue/black/white/orange ribbon. Obverse: GEORGIUS V BRITT OMN REX ET IND IMP". Reverse: Horseman and date 1914-1918. "26064 PTE H. ROBINSON" engraved on edge. The 1911

M8041	August 1914 for purposes of Attestation before a JP. Dated 28.8.1914. Back of form not completed. Signed by Sergeant-Major Jos. Clegg. Born at Airmyn, East Yorkshire, J.J. Proctor was the son of George (a railway platelayer) and Elizabeth Proctor, living at Staddlethorpe near Gilberdyke at the time of the 1911 census, when he still at school. Later lived at Luddington. He enlisted at Garthorpe, joining the 7th Battalion King's Own Yorkshire Light Infantry (service number 15619). Died of his wounds on 1st June 1916.
ERYMS (Skidby Mill) : 2010.25	Brown leather saddle with girth band and other straps. Metal buckles, felt(?) lining with metal core. It bears an army ordnance mark, so perhaps was originally used in WWI - the donor is in his 80's and says that it is definitely older than him. Also, a plaited leather whip, with a deer leg bone for a handle, a set of leather blinkers and assorted horse bits of various types. The saddle is thought to have been made in Beverley and was used by the donor (who worked as a farrier) on a double shafted cart.
ERYMS : 2001.88.3	Scarborough Camp - Part of "D" Squadron, East Riding lines. Here are the tents and horse lines of the "Pocklington Troop", with the writer performing his ablutions near the tent doorway. On the right of the picture - wearing a Sam Browne belt, is Sgt. Major Rbt. S. Stephenson of Grange Farm, Goodmanham. Others in the picture from left to right are Harry Duffield, Sgt. Jack Hatfield, Dick Jefferson, Leonard Sampson, Ted Robinson, Harold Brigham - and seated on the ground, Ben Byass killed in action in Palestine in 1917, and Frank Potter. (Notes taken from H. W. Lyons lecture notes "The Tale of a Yeoman" 1912-1918).
ERYMS : 2001.88.4	'D' Squadron Horse Lines. (Notes taken from H. W. Lyons lecture notes "The Tale of a Yeoman" 1912-1918). East Riding Yeomanry annual camp in 1913.
ERYMS : 2001.88.5	Scarborough Camp - "D" Squadron Forage Heap. Members of "Pocklington Troop", drawing feeds for the horses. Little did we think when this photograph was taken, that, fifty years later, and after two world wars, four of us in the front row would for several years, travel together in the writers car to the annual reunions of the East Riding Yeomanry Old Comrades' Association. (E.V. Byass, H.W. Lyon, Jim Conmy, Tom H. Fawcett. (Notes taken from H. W. Lyons lecture notes "The Tale of a Yeoman" 1912-1918).
ERYMS : 2001.88.6	Scarborough Camp - Church Parade, 1913. Here, resplendent in full dress uniform, is the regiment on Church Parade, the hymns being accompanied by the excellent Regimental Band. In those peace-time days, unless on duty, no troops were allowed out of camp except when wearing full dress. Another year had passed when, in the June of that fateful year, 1914, the annual camp was at York - in a field situated between the Knavesmire and Bishopthorpe Rd. Then barely two months later - August bank holiday - found many a yeoman cleaning his equipment and saddlery and preparing his personal kit in readiness for a possible call up. This proved to be a wise precaution for, by the afternoon of the following day, August 4th, notices were being posted in prominent positions - the wall of the Londesborough Arms in Market Weighton for instance - announcing that "His Majesty is pleased to order the mobilization of the Territorial Force....."(Notes taken from H. W. Lyons lecture notes "The Tale of a Yeoman" 1912-1918).
ERYMS : 2001.88.7	Notice of Embodiment sent to Trooper Harold Lyon of the East Riding Yeomanry in August 1914, when the regiment was mobilised for war. By the first post on Tuesday August 5th there came the official notice to "Join by 12 noon on that day", with the warning that "should you not present yourself as ordered, you will be liable to be proceeded against" signed W.R. Tylden-Wright, Capt and Adjutant. (Notes taken from H. W. Lyons lecture notes "The Tale of a Yeoman" 1912-1918).

ERYMS : 2001.88.8	Kilnwick Percy - Group of Pocklington Troop, East Riding Yeomanry (part only). Left to right - back row: S.S.M. Robt. Stephenson; Jas. Appleton; Percy Byass; Alan Greenshaw; Jack (Mike) Harrison; Sgt.Jack Hatfield. Middle row: Frank Riley; Wilf Ottley; Tom England; Trumpeter Shaw; Leonard Sampson. Front row: H.W. Lyon; Dick Utteridge; Jim Conmy; John (Banker Jack) Harrison. At the Home Farm, Kilnwick Percy, whilst "D" Squadron were housed on straw in the granaries, many of the men of the other squadrons were sleeping in open cartsheds, perhaps with only a tarpaulin sheet hung across the front. Now came the time for the separation of those of us who had offered to serve overseas, from those who had chosen otherwise. At first there were enough men to form only one Service Squadron - three parts of which, I am proud to say, came from peacetime "D" Squadron. This service squadron became "A" Squadron, as more men quickly offered themselves to form "B" and "C" Squadrons.(Notes taken from H. W. Lyons lecture notes "The Tale of a Yeoman" 1912-1918).
ERYMS : 2001.88.9	"Another picture of most of the same men as those on our last slide. Members of the Regiment who had not volunteered for foreign service now formed the nucleus of the Second Line regiment under the command of Liet-Col. P.Langdale, who for valid reasons was not permitted to serve overseas. The Sqadron leader of our old "D" Squadron, Major Guy Wilson, now promoted to Lieut. Colonel - took command of the 1st line regiment, with Major E. Duke Moore became second-in-command. Likewise the new Regimental Sergent Major was formerly our old S.S.M. G.A. Stevens. Early in November (3rd Nov 1914) the regiment was at the beginning of a six months stay in and around the county of Durham - Bowes House Farm, (or should we say Boases Hoose Farm" at Fence Houses, Castle Eden (Nimmo's Brewery), Seaham Harbour (Seaham Hall), Bedlington, etc, the squadrons interchanging from time to time. Here our coastal defence duties were interspersed with inland training. But it was at Seaham Hall, on the cliff top between Seaham harbour and Ryhope, that we of "A" squadron spent our first war-time christmas at a time when, for defence reasons, we were strictly confined to barracks." (several more paragraphs follow.) (Notes taken from H. W. Lyons lecture notes "The Tale of a Yeoman" 1912-1918).

ERYMS : 2001.88.12	"Costessey Park - Sunday dinner after the storm. Sunday dinner had to be taken in the open, after a raging storm during the night had demolished the mess tents. An hour before midnight on the last day of August 1915, the regiment was turned out to hear the call - the urgent call - for more infantry for the Gallipoli campaign. Need it be said, that the men volunteered with one voice, although it meant the loss of our horses, and the unaccustomed roll as footsloggers." (Notes taken from H. W. Lyons lecture notes "The Tale of a Yeoman" 1912-1918).
ERYMS : 2001.88.13	Costessey Park (near Norwich) - Trenching. (H.W.L is third man from right.) But I don't remember it happening again. The atmosphere had been rather electric. (Notes taken from H. W. Lyons lecture notes "The Tale of a Yeoman" 1912-1918).
ERYMS : 2001.88.14	Costessey Park - Y.M.C.A. Tent. It was in this hut that many of us spent our last few hours before, very early in the morning of the 27th October, we rode the few miles to Thorpe railway station, Norwich, there to entrain, with our horses, for an unknown destination. (Notes taken from H. W. Lyons lecture notes "The Tale of a Yeoman" 1912-1918). This was the East Riding Yeomanry's last camp before active service commenced.
ERYMS : 2001.88.15	Southampton Docks showing S.S. Mauretania. "By early afternoon, the train pulled into the dockshed at Southampton, and just across the platform was the transport "Victorian", which was to take us on the next stage of our journey. It was no easy task getting all the horses aboard, down steeply sloping gangways, and backed into their stalls with no space for them to lie down for the whole voyage. Following four days at sea, we passed through the Straits of Gibraltar (Oct 31st 1915). The next day we received a message that the "Mercian", carrying our comrades of the Lincolnshire Yeomanry had been heavily shelled by an enemy submarine and was putting into the Algerian port of Oran for repairs and burials. On 5th November we sailed into Valletta Harbour, Malta. We were given opportunities for going ashore, and many of the Maltese boys swarmed round the ship in their native "bum-boats", offering ciggarettes, chocolate etc. That night we had an excellent concert on deck, the ship's rigging serving as the upper circle. At noon on the 6th, the Victoria steamed out to sea, with a lively escort of Japanese destroyers, for which we were thankful. It was understood that we were bound for Salonika, but our destination was altered again. On November 9th our boat made fast alongside Gabari Docks in Alexandria. Disembarkation commenced at once. The horses, unfit to be ridden after two weeks at sea, were led some miles eastwards to Chatby Camp. We reached the capital, Cairo, on November 22nd." (Abridged notes taken from H. W. Lyon's lecture notes "The Tale of a Yeoman" 1912-1918). Lyon's diary notes that they left Southampton on October 27th 1915.
ERYMS : 2001.88.16	Kasr-el-Nil bridge with the barracks in the distance. "After a sumptuous dinner which was awaiting us in the Kasr-el-Nil Barracks (22nd Nov 1915) we set off on the seven mile march, sometimes riding, but perhaps more often on foot, leading our horses. Our route lay along a narrow, dusty road, fortunately shaded by huge overhanging Lebbek trees. But how thrilled we were when we caught, in the distance, our first glimpse of those world famous pyramids of Giza, in the shadow of which was to be our abode for the next week or so." ERYMS : 2001.88.33	"Fayoum oasis - El Azab - Senior Officers of the Regiment. Left to right; Major Buxton, Major Dalton-White, Lieut-Col the Hon. Guy Wilson, next unrecognised, then Major E. Duke Moore. Our days here were spent in training exercises and polishing buttons and saddlery. Our duties were to patrol the western desert, to intercept any attack on the Fayoum from that direction by the Senussi tribes, who, aided and encouraged by the Germans, were threatening Egypt from the west. There were many hundreds of Senussi sympathisers in the oasis, an area roughly three quarters of the size of the East Riding, and the largest natural oasis in Africa." (details taken from H. W. ERYMS : 2001.88.40	"Fayoum oasis - Abu Gandir Halt - Loading camels with "dries". Our rations, and the forage for the horses, were brought out on the Fayoum Light Railway to a convenient point and then loaded on to camels for delivery to our camp. Here you see the camels being loaded with "dries", a very coarse hay, for the horses. " (details taken from H. W. Lyons lecture notes "The Tale of a Yeoman" 1912-1918).
ERYMS : 2001.88.42	"In this photograph we see the "Nurag" - the Egyptian power choppy cutter near our camp at Gharack West. A heavily laden platform carried on a number of circular knives, this is drawn over the straw by oxen time and time again. As fresh straw is laid down, the cut straw is raked into the centre of the ring. " (details taken from H. W. Lyons lecture notes "The Tale of a Yeoman" 1912-1918).
ERYMS : 2011.21	"Autograph" album compiled by Nell Lawtey (the donor's aunt), during the First World War. She was born at Long Riston and trained as a nurse. During the war, she worked at a convalescent hospital at Somerville College in Oxford. The album was "autographed" by soldiers from many different units who were patients at the hospital. Some of the entries really are just signatures, but the majority are more elaborate - they include poems, pencil / ink drawings and even watercolours. The subjects of these illustrations are equally varied - military equipment, scenes from the front, portraits, animals etc.
ERYMS : 1996.963.1	Black &amp; white photograph showing the band of the 2/1st East Riding Yeomanry at Bridlington, 1916. They are wearing khaki service dress and are posed with their instruments in front of a tent. The back of the photograph has the location and date marked in pen, although pencil annotations also give alternative dates - 1917 and 1918. It also has parts of labels for "A. Brocklesby, high class groceries and provisions, Cottingham." It is known that there was a bandmaster W. Brocklesby in the ERY, so he may be depicted in this photograph.
ERYMS : 1996.963.3	Sepia toned postcard, labelled as showing the East Riding Yeomanry camp at Rieuvaulx. Pencil note on the back says "Helmsley", where the annual ERY camp was held in 1909.
ERYMS : 1996.963.20	Card mounted photograph of officers of the East Riding Yeomanry (Wenlock's Horse) at Dalton camp, East Yorkshire, May 1910. Names written underneath. Back row (l to r): Anderson, Sands, Hodgson, Draper, Ridley. Middle row: staff officer, staff officer, Cyril Lloyd, Lyons, Walker, Capt. Guy Wilson, Capt. Birch, Adt. Capt. T. Gurney, Buxton. Front row: Major Clive Wilson, staff officer, Guy Palmes, General Plumer G.O.I.C. N.C., Colonel J.B. Stracey Clitherow C.O., staff officer, Major P. Langdale (who commanded B squadron based in Beverley) and another staff officer. Seated in front: Cadman, J. Dalton-White, T.G.N. Bardwell.
ERYMS : 2011.22	Nine postcards dating to the First World War and mainly depicting members of the East Yorkshire Regiment. Sent by two of the donor's uncles (Sydney and Leonard Bolderson) to their sister Elsie Bolderson, who was living in Patrington. The brothers both served in the Egypt campaign (1915-1918) and survived the war. One card postmarked 12 Sep 1912 is of a pre-war training camp and is from "Walter" (relationship unknown) to Mr Bolderson in Hull. In the 1901 census, Sydney (9), Leonard (6), Elsie (6) and four other sisters are all listed at Westgate, Patrington, Their parents were Frederick and Martha W. Balderson, Frederick being a railway worker (in 1891 they had been at Arthur Street, Hull, Frederick then being a clerk). Sydney Bolderson (1891-1976) achieved the rank of 2nd Lieutenant. He is 2nd from left back row in a postcard showing members of D company 13th Battalion E.Yorks Rgt. In the 1922 Kelly's street directory for Hull he is listed at 20 Queen's Road. He is also described as a clerk. The studio portrait of a soldier and woman (wife? sister?) is dated May 1918 on the back. One of the group shots is postmarked Ripon 22 Oct 1915 and the message from Syd Bolderson to Elsie Bolderson mentions "Jessie" (Stamp), who he married in 1919. Leonard Bolderson (1894-1966) was a private in the East Yorkshire Regiment. One of the postcards, showing a scene from Port Said, Egypt, has a military censor's mark on it. Another showing a cavalryman (Yeomanry?) is perhaps unrelated.

ERYMS (Goole) : M8763	Headed 'Lancashire and Yorkshire Railway'. Authorises M. Thompson, employed at Goole as a fireman in the loco department to enlist. Dated 10th December 1915.
ERYMS : 2011.58.1	Postcard showing six men outside a tent. Percy Purnell is on the left and the donor's father, Corporal William Brown Duffill is sitting on the right (marked with a cross). Percy John Purnell was a Private/Sgt/2nd Lt in the East Riding Yeomanry, Regiment numbers 1026 and 50059, and was commissioned on 8th February 1918. He survived the war and received the usual 3 medals; British War medal, Victory medal and the 1914-15 Star. William Brown Duffill was born 1886 in the October quarter in the Hull district. In the 1901 census he was working as a chemist's assistant and living at 25 Wright St, Hull. His parents occupations were listed as house painter and dressmaker respectively. He also had six brothers.
ERYMS : 2011.58.2	Postcard showing William Brown Duffill on horseback, probably at Sailsbury camp. In the donor's letter she states that her father did not have his own horse and had to have one provided. On the back of postcard (2011.58.1) he writes 'My horse is guilty of a very bad temper and gave me an uncomfortable ride.' William Brown Duffill was born 1886 in the October quarter in the Hull district. In the 1901 census he was working as a chemist's assistant and living at 25 Wright St, Hull. His parents occupations were listed as house painter and dressmaker respectively. He also had six brothers.
ERYMS : 2011.58.3	Postcard showing William Brown Duffill on horseback, probably at Sailsbury camp. In the donor's letter she states that her father did not have his own horse and had to have one provided. On the back of postcard (2011.58.1) he writes 'My horse is guilty of a very bad temper and gave me an uncomfortable ride.' (This is a different horse to the one seen in 2011.58.2). William Brown Duffill was born 1886 in the October quarter in the Hull district. In the 1901 census he was working as a chemist's assistant and living at 25 Wright St, Hull. His parents occupations were listed as house painter and dressmaker respectively. He also had six brothers.
ERYMS : 2011.58.4	11 postcards relating to the East Yorkshire Rifles and the Royal Field Artillery. One group shot is marked 'The Lodge, Pearson Park, Hull' and is dated 27th August, 1907 and probably shows the East Riding Rifles. There are three postcards showing the Royal Field Artillery, one has 'Knott End Camp, July 10th 1909' and a message on the back, signed by Percy. This was the donor's uncle, Percy Witty. He was sent to France where he was gassed.
ERYMS : 2011.58.5	'Old Comrades on Parade', newspaper cutting from The Yorkshire Post and Leeds Mercury, Monday July 27th, 1953. The caption reads 'The mounted troop of the Old Comrades of the East Riding Yeomanry arrive at Beverley Minster for the service yesterday to commemorate the 50th anniversary of the founding of the Regiment.'

ERYMS : 2001.88.43	Here is my close friend, Sgt. Fred Pickard, a native of Dunnington near York, standing beside a primitive plough which was working alongside our camp. The plough is made entirely of wood, except for the extreme tip of the pointed share, which is iron shod." (details taken from H. W. Lyons lecture notes "The Tale of a Yeoman" 1912-1918).
ERYMS : 2001.88.44	"Under the very welcome shade of date palm trees, the corn, which has been threshed with the stem of a palm leaf serving as a flail, is cast into the air continually, so that the slight breeze can blow away the chaff." (details taken from H. W. Lyons lecture notes "The Tale of a Yeoman" 1912-1918).
ERYMS : 2001.88.45	"These camels have just brought from the light railway, loads of forage for our horses. The man on the left is Trooper Cyril Hollings, a boyhood friend of the writer's from about the age of 7 years." (details taken from H. W. Lyons lecture notes "The Tale of a Yeoman" 1912-1918).
ERYMS : 2001.88.49	"Leaving camp soon after daybreak, we strike out almost due west into the desert, and climb a steep rock ridge. Looking back, we get a splendid view of the Fayoum Oasis. After riding for some five or six miles, we have a short halt at the half-way rock as seen in the picture. Left to right: Ray Reed, Gilbert Howarth, Will Turner." (details taken from H. W. Lyons lecture notes "The Tale of a Yeoman" 1912-1918).
ERYMS : 2001.88.50	"Here we are at last, destined for a day of sweltering heat, with practically no shade from the hot sun, and only a water bottle full of water to last us until we return to camp at nightfall. Our outpost is on the uppermost ledge just below the top of the rock, but on the side farthest from the camera.

	(details taken from H. W. Lyons lecture notes "The Tale of a Yeoman" 1912-1918).
ERYMS : 2001.88.51	"Left to Right: Ray Reed, Geo. Lancaster, Will Turner. It was our duty to look out for anyone approaching along the desert caravan route from the Bahariyeh Oasis, and we had a fine view over miles of what looked like level sand, to another similar cape fifteen or so miles away. At intervals we were sent out to this promontory, Cape Ryan, for a stay of several days, and you can imagine our surprise when we found that the intervening ground was just one mass of shifting sand dunes, of anything up to 100 feet in height, necessitating a continuous winding back and forth between the dunes. (details taken from H. W. Lyons lecture notes "The Tale of a Yeoman" 1912-1918).
ERYMS : 2001.88.52	"Our visits, although occasional, were not looked forward to, especially as the only water that we and our horses had to drink was that which emerged from a spring (where you see the camels in the picture) under the shade of these trees, ran a short distance, then disappeared again into the soft sand, a very strong sulphur water." (details taken from H. W. Lyons lecture notes "The Tale of a Yeoman" 1912-1918).
ERYMS : 2001.88.53	"Another mounted patrol took us northwards along the edge of the desert, which passed this hamlet. Here you see Rex Ainslie, whose father at that time was vicar of Hedon, being entertained by the village worthies and offered a gift of roasted peanuts, local grown and a welcome gift. The ox in the foreground is "hobbled", that is its two forefeet are tied with a piece of rope with only about a foot between them, thus enabling the beast to hobble about slowly but preventing it from bolting." (details taken from H. W. Lyons lecture notes "The Tale of a Yeoman" 1912-1918).
ERYMS : 2001.88.54	"Whilst at Gharack West, we all managed to get two short leaves, each of four days in Cairo. On this occasion, Sgt Walter Duggleby, seen on the front of the carriage, and I were just returning from leave. The Light Railway brought us from the main railway line at Fayoum town to a point only a short ride from our camp. On 12th August 1916 we finally said goodbye to Gharack West and returned once again to Brigade Headquarters at Deir el Azab. Whilst we had no regrets at leaving El Gharack, neither had we any love for our brigade camp, except that there we had excellent canteens and a plentiful supply of water and good food." (details taken from H. W. Lyons lecture notes "The Tale of a Yeoman" 1912-1918).
ERYMS : 2001.88.55	"Here we see our meagre supply of drinking water being brought up. Each camel carries two tanks - Fantasies- each of which contains ten gallons. By the time the water arrived it was fairly hot." (details taken from H. W. Lyons lecture notes "The Tale of a Yeoman" 1912-1918).
ERYMS : 2001.88.56	"Although there was a network of irrigation canals throughout the oasis, water for washing was none too plentiful. The water taken from the canals was so infested by disease germs, that it was forbidden even to wash in it until it had been treated liberally with strong disinfectant. For this reason, a large swimming pool had been constructed by native labour, alongside a small canal, the water having been suitably treated with 'Cresol'. As you can see the walls of the swimming pool consist of filled sandbags. This photograph was taken during swimming and diving contests. The comrade emerging from the water in his birthday suit is Frank Harrison (Hovingham). Swimming trunks were neither provided nor necessary." (details taken from H. W. Lyons lecture notes "The Tale of a Yeoman" 1912-1918). Probably May-August 1916.
ERYMS : 2001.88.57	"Our last picture in the Fayoum shows us on a small desert outpost, possibly seven or eight miles from the oasis, and camp. Throughout the day our only shelter from the blazing hot sun, was that provided by the sacking fastened to the rough wooden supports as seen in the picture. At least we had a 'fantasie' of water - which can be seen - and a reasonable quantity of good dry fuel lying around, with which to boil water for a mug of tea. This fuel had been left when the outpost was manned daily by the Bikaner Camel Corps, sun baked camel dung." (details taken from H. W. Lyons lecture notes "The Tale of a Yeoman" 1912-1918).
ERYMS : 2001.88.58	"After de-training, we marched over this pontoon bridge, leading our horses. These showed their dislike of the swaying motion of the bridge in no uncertain manner. Before the war, Kantara consisted of a few mud huts, a quarantine house, and on the west bank, the railway station on the line leading to Port Said. By this time it had grown to quite a large camp. It was the beginning of the Kantara Military Railway, which ran eastwards into the Sinai desert, serving as the sole line of communication for carrying supplies to the Desert Column. Before very many months, however, it had become one of the largest base camps in the world, with its network of railway sidings, miles of jetties on the canal, with a dozen or more ocean-going ships unloading stores for the rapidly growing forces in Sinai and later Palestine." (details taken from H. W. Lyons lecture notes "The Tale of a Yeoman" 1912-1918).
ERYMS : 2001.88.59	"Christmas Mail and rations arriving at outpost. December 1916" (details taken from H. W. Lyons lecture notes "The Tale of a Yeoman" 1912-1918).
ERYMS :	"Patrol descending sand dune." (details taken from H. W. Lyons lecture notes "The Tale of a 2001.88.60	Yeoman" 1912-1918). This is western Sinai in the area of Romani and dates to around December 1916 / January 1917.

ERYMS : 2001.88.62	"Laying railway line towards Egypt/Palestine, February 1917." (details taken from H. W. Lyons lecture notes "The Tale of a Yeoman" 1912-1918). The location is Sheikh Zuwaid in northern Sinai and the precise date is 23rd February 1917. The East Riding Yeomanry were out on patrol ahead, providing protection for the railway builders.
ERYMS : 2001.88.63	"Khan Yunus Village, 15th March 1917." (details taken from H. W. Lyons lecture notes "The Tale of a Yeoman" 1912-1918).
ERYMS : 2001.88.64	The slide, from Harold Lyon's post war lecture, shows men and horses of the East Riding Yeomanry at Deir-el-Belah on the Mediterranean coast SW of Palestine, enjoying a much needed bathe. The date will be somewhere in the spring/early summer of 1917.
ERYMS : 2001.88.65	"Approximately our first view when on reconnaissance in Force." (details taken from H. W. Lyons lecture notes "The Tale of a Yeoman" 1912-1918). Dates to March 1917, just before the first battle of Gaza, in which the British suffered a serious defeat. Elsewhere in his notes, Lyon remarks that the lines of cacti marking field boundaries were more formidable obstacles than barbed wire.
ERYMS : 2001.88.66	"Gaza, shell hole in Mosque" (details taken from H. W. Lyons lecture notes "The Tale of a Yeoman" 1912-1918). Will date to after November 7th 1917, when Gaza fell to the British forces following the 3rd battle for the city.
ERYMS : 2001.88.67	"Harvesting between first and second battles of Gaza." (details taken from H. W. Lyons lecture notes "The Tale of a Yeoman" 1912-1918).
ERYMS : 2001.88.68	"Camel Transport 'going up'." (details taken from H. W. Lyons lecture notes "The Tale of a Yeoman" 1912-1918). Probably taken in Sinai, sometime in 1917.
ERYMS : 2001.88.69	"Troops moving out from Dur-el-Belah for second Gaza battle." (details taken from H. W. Lyons lecture notes "The Tale of a Yeoman" 1912-1918). About April 4th 1917. The 2nd battle of Gaza, largely a head on assault against strong Turkish defences, was a heavy defeat for the British and cost their commander General Murray his job. He was replaced by General Allenby, who would lead the British to victory in 1918.
ERYMS : 2001.88.71	"Dugouts and horse lines." (details taken from H. W. Lyons lecture notes "The Tale of a Yeoman" 1912-1918). Probably May 1917, after the British defeat at the 2nd battle of Gaza.
ERYMS : 2001.88.72	"Breakfasting at Tel-el-Fara." (details taken from H. W. Lyons lecture notes "The Tale of a Yeoman" 1912-1918). In Palestine, SW of Gaza, probably spring 1917.
ERYMS : 2001.88.73	"Bivouac shared by Sgt. C. Elliott and H.W. Lyon." (details taken from H. W. Lyons lecture notes "The Tale of a Yeoman" 1912-1918). In Palestine, SW of Gaza, probably spring 1917.
ERYMS : 2001.88.74	"Bivouac interior." (details taken from H. W. Lyons lecture notes "The Tale of a Yeoman" 1912-1918). Kit bags and supplies piled at the back of the tent.
ERYMS : 2001.88.75	"View from Bivouac interior towards the sea." (details taken from H. W. Lyons lecture notes "The Tale of a Yeoman" 1912-1918). On the Mediterranean coast of Palestine, SW of Gaza, spring/summer 1917.
ERYMS : 2001.88.76	"A Squadron Sergeants mess." of the East Riding Yeomanry (details taken from H. W. Lyons lecture notes "The Tale of a Yeoman" 1912-1918). Probably around June 1917, on the Palestine coast SW of Gaza. The improvised table and chairs are both made from sandbags.
ERYMS : 2001.88.77	"Arrival of mail from home." (details taken from H. W. Lyons lecture notes "The Tale of a Yeoman" 1912-1918). On the Palestine coast SW of Gaza, spring/summer 1917.
ERYMS : 2001.88.78	"The laundry." (details taken from H. W. Lyons lecture notes "The Tale of a Yeoman" 1912-1918). On the Palestine coast SW of Gaza, spring/summer 1917.
ERYMS : 2001.88.79	"Troops train crossing Sinai from Kantara to Khan Yunus, 15th September 1917." (details taken from H. W. Lyons lecture notes "The Tale of a Yeoman" 1912-1918).
ERYMS : 2001.88.80	"Arrival of donkeys for use of Officer's servants." (details taken from H. W. Lyons lecture notes "The Tale of a Yeoman" 1912-1918). Probably late September 1917; two donkeys were allocated to each troop of the regiment.
ERYMS : 2001.88.81	"Halted at Khan Yunus - moving out towards Shellal (No.4 troop, 'A' Squadron)." (details taken from H. W. Lyons lecture notes "The Tale of a Yeoman" 1912-1918).
ERYMS : 2001.88.82	"Horses resting after watering before returning to Goz-el-Gelieb." (details taken from H. W. Lyons lecture notes "The Tale of a Yeoman" 1912-1918). Probably late October 1917.

Lyons lecture notes "The Tale of a Yeoman" 1912-1918). This unique image shows the ERY charging El Mughar ridge, one of the last times the British army engaged in a mounted cavalry charge. The regiment took 70 prisoners and also captured two machine guns in this action on 13th November 1917.
ERYMS : 2001.88.89	"Akir, Rothschild Jewish Colony, group of civilians." (details taken from H. W. Lyons lecture notes "The Tale of a Yeoman" 1912-1918). 14th November 1917. At this time the Jewish population in Palestine was very small in numbers and the East Riding Yeomanry soldiers were quite surprised to see European style dress and houses.
ERYMS : 2001.88.90	"'A' Squadron near buildings of wine press." (details taken from H. W. Lyons lecture notes "The Tale of a Yeoman" 1912-1918). This photograph was taken at Akir, a Rothschild Jewish colony in Palestine, 14th November 1917.
ERYMS : 2001.88.91	"Early next morning, the brigade attacked a very steep hill called Abu Shusheh Ridge but our troop happened to be acting as escort to the guns, and our picture shows us watering horses at the village well during the sweeping of the hill by gun-fire, previous to the cavalry charge. It was during this charge that the Hon. Neil Primrose, Lord Roseberry's eldest son, was killed." (details taken from H. W. Lyons lecture notes "The Tale of a Yeoman" 1912-1918). Capt. Neil James Archibald Primrose (of the Buckinghamshire Yeomanry) was killed on 15/11/1917 according to his medal card.
ERYMS : 2001.88.92	"This is a snap taken almost from the summit of the ridge about two hours after its capture, and gives a fairly good idea of the rough stony country over which we were passing. The dust in the centre is raised by London Yeomanry passing through Ramleh and Ludd (Lydda), these having been taken about the same time as the ridge on which we are standing. Jaffa could be seen quite distinctly on the sky line. As advance guard, we came quite near to the village of Amwas (Emmaus) where Mr Earnest Byass of Newbald was wounded, two days after his brother was killed." (details taken from H. W. Lyons lecture notes "The Tale of a Yeoman" 1912-1918). Image taken on 15th November 1917.
ERYMS : 2001.88.93	"The next picture will show a welcome find while on flank guard to the Brigade - a deep well of splendid water." (details taken from H. W. Lyons lecture notes "The Tale of a Yeoman" 1912-1918). 16th November 1917, somewhere in the area of Ramleh, Palestine.
ERYMS : 2001.88.94	"On leaving the plain we soon got an idea of what kind of country was before us. For two whole days we trekked through hilly country strewn with huge boulders and rocks, and almost impassible for horses, there being practically no track of any kind. All wheeled transport including guns had to be left behind. After leading our horses for miles with the reins of one horse slung over the sword on the horse in front, the dis-mounted men being on the hill tops and the horses of courses in the valley." (details taken from H. W. Lyons lecture notes "The Tale of a Yeoman" 1912-1918). Image taken on 19th / 20th November 1917.
ERYMS : 2001.88.95	"We reached Tahta about noon on the 22nd (Nov 1917) with very blistered feet as the result of having to walk, or rather scramble most of the way over boulders, again leading our horses. We managed a full night and day's rest and had a good supply of rations once more, then next morning went out as left-flank guard to the 52nd division attacking El Jib. While out the whole division was practically surrounded, the enemy reaching within one hundred yards or so of our Brigade Hqs and where only two days earlier we were taking our ease. Luckily for us, reinforcements of Australian Light Horse and Yeomanry galloped up in time to prevent any really serious results. Returning the following night to Beit-ur-el-Foka our horses were sent back to Ramleh and we became the East 'Walkings'." (details taken from H. W. Lyons lecture notes "The Tale of a Yeoman" 1912-1918).
ERYMS : 2001.88.96	"Dismounted, we were sent forward into the hills in front of Foka and the picture shows our outpost, this being taken during heavy shelling. At Night, we were given a rather rough time and had to retire repeatedly down and up these rugged hills until we were just dead beat. At last after midnight we came to a halt on the face of a hill, looking across the valley to el Foka on the opposite hill. Here we made a Sangar from the stones lying around and remained in it until 5am, when we received orders to move higher up the hill. All our work had been in vain and we had to set to work quickly to make another Sangar before daybreak." (details taken from H. W. Lyons lecture notes "The Tale of a Yeoman" 1912-1918). Probably November 24th 1917.

ERYMS : 2001.88.97	"The next picture shows a Barmby Moor man watching Turks drawing water from an excellent well at which we had drawn water a day or two before - imagine our feelings when you realize that our water bottles had been empty for some twelve hours and we had no hopes of obtaining any until we could be relieved. However, at midnight of the 29th Nov. we were relieved by the Highland Light Infantry of the 60th Division and marched back through Beit-ur-el-Tahta to Annabeh where we got our horses back after being without them for some days. From here we rode back to Akir for a rest. Had my first wash and shave since November 23rd. (i.e. 9 or 10 days)." (details taken from H. W. Lyons lecture notes "The Tale of a Yeoman" 1912-1918).
ERYMS : 2001.88.98	"After rather more than a month constantly on the move, the division was sent further back to Julis and this proved to be our last turn in the line in Palestine. At this point I was taken down the line with Colic and Jaundice and arrived in the 70th General Hospital, Cairo." (details taken from H. W. Lyons lecture notes "The Tale of a Yeoman" 1912-1918). Image taken around 13th December 1917.
ERYMS : 2001.88.99	"I arrived in the 70th General Hospital, Cairo, late at night on Dec 15th, after having had 29 hours in the train following two very rough days in an uncomfortable sand cart. I was several weeks in the hospital, including a most enjoyable Christmas, when things were made as home like as possible, thanks to the un-tiring efforts of the nurses." (details taken from H. W. Lyons lecture notes "The Tale of a Yeoman" 1912-1918).
ERYMS : 2001.88.100	"The Sultan, now King Faud, of Egypt visiting the 70th General Hospital. The Gentleman in the tarbrush leading is the king, and when this was taken he had only just succeeded his late brother." (details taken from H. W. Lyons lecture notes "The Tale of a Yeoman" 1912-1918).
ERYMS : 2001.88.101	"Opera Square - the Trafalgar Square of Cairo. Shepherd's Hotel, which is mentioned in practically every novel dealing with Egypt, was just off the picture to the right. ERYMS : 2001.88.102	"On the left we have the Sultan Hassan Mosque. I have been to the top of the highest minaret and from here we get a splendid view away over Cairo to the Pyramids of Giza. On the right is the El Rifal Mosque. Here it is that the Holy Carpet -actually hangings or curtains - is hung after its return from Mecca. Before entering we must hire a pair of special slippers to place over our boots so we do not defile what to them is very holy ground. The floors are very extravagantly adorned with thick Turkish carpets, and the walls are most beautifully inlaid with ivory, ebony, silver, platinum etc, and most of the woodwork is in Cedar of Lebanon." (details taken from H. W. Lyons lecture notes "The Tale of a Yeoman" 1912-1918).
ERYMS : 2001.88.103	"The large building with the dome is the Citadel Mosque. The central dome alone contains at least two thousand electric lights and the mosaic work in the walls, and the Turkish carpets surpass even the Sultan Hassan Mosque. Here again we have to take off our boots before entering. The Citadel itself is one of the main barracks and includes the Military Hospital in which Cpl. John Harrison died, in May 1916. In the centre of this hill is situated Joseph's Well, some 500 feet deep. A winding passage, with openings out into the shaft of the well, takes us down about 300ft down, and from there an arrangement similar to the ox-driven sakeer draws up the water the remaining 200ft by means of a skin bucket fastened on a rope. At this time the brother of the Sultan of Turkey was a prisoner in the Citadel, as a result of his being captured in a charge by the Dorset Yeomanry, operating against the Rebel Senussi on the Western frontier in 1916." Two or three of us were lucky enough to 'mark time' on a tarpaulin sheet and creeping under its shelter passed quite a good night. Those not so lucky were about wet through with the heavy dew and of course cold with moving quickly with no shelter. When travelling by this method, it is quite as well to know that you do not roll about very much in your sleep." (details taken from H. W. Lyons lecture notes "The Tale of a Yeoman" 1912-1918). ERYMS : 2001.88.110	"Sidi Bishr - our camp being almost on the beach. We had fine bathing and then at night, we rode donkeys to the tram terminus, about half a mile away and went into Alexandria by tram car. We were well supplied with canteens and fruit stalls and had not at all a bad time. One of my tent mates frequently came back from town in quite a happy frame of mind and of course rode a donkey from the tram terminus each night. On occasions however, he was not satisfied with this, but even wanted the donkey to put him to bed, at any rate he did his best to make it carry him over the legs of the unfortunates who had turned in a bit earlier and who slept nearer the doorway ." ERYMS : 2001.88.115	"While we were usually on the Starboard side of the convoy, the Indarra was on the port side. Almost directly after all were on board, these two vessels moved out into the middle of the huge harbour of Alexandria. For two days we remained here, much of the time being spent in boat drill etc. The decks were much too crowded to allow parades, and for this we were truly thankful. " (details taken from H. W. ERYMS : 2001.88.117	"The picture shows the Kaiser-i-Hind Convoy the morning after the disaster*, in line abreast. At times it was almost possible to shout from one boat to the other. *At 3pm on May 26th 1918, the first boat drew anchor, the others following at intervals of five minutes. Until we passed through the minefields, about 15 miles from land, we sailed in line ahead. But after passing out of the narrow channel left clear of mines, we opened out in line abreast, with escorting Japanese destroyers, minesweepers and aircraft, including one small airship, all around and above us. At midnight of our first night at sea, we were roused from our peaceful slumbers by those unwelcome words "Boat Station". Blessing everyone and these practice alarms, we tumbled out of our hammocks, and without hurry worked our way on deck. All was excitement - those men who preferred to sleep on deck had heard the dull thud of a torpedo strike the bows of the middle boat of the convoy, the Leasowe Castle, had seen her fall back in a sinking condition with only two small destroyers to help those on board. But the convoy had to put on even more speed. The Leasowe Castle carried the Bucks, Berks, Warwicks and South Notts. Yeomanry and details - she remained afloat for about an hour, during which time the whole of the troops and crew should have been saved. But the Lascar crew acted in the same manner as later in the wreck of the 'Egypt' and as a result over 100 lives were lost. I for one slept on deck the remainder of that night. " The Kaiser-i-Hind Convoy consisted of the following ships: Kaiser -i-Hind; Leasowe Castle - sunk; Cambria; Indarra; Malwa; Ormonde; Caledonia.(details taken from H. W. ERYMS : 2013.13	East Riding Yeomanry Old Comrades Association Roll of Honour, typed on paper, double sided. Lists men who died in World War I in alphabetical order, with ranks, regimental number, home address, last unit served in and where/when they died.
ERYMS : 2013.14	East Riding Yeomanry Old Comrades Association AGM programme for 4th December 1926 at The Windmill Hotel, York. Also photocopies of regimental orders dated May 10th 1913 by Lt. Col. P. Langdale and ERY B Squadron annual rifle competition notice on 27th September 1913, held on the Hornsea range, two letters re musketry practice in 1913 and a request for men to attend manoeuvres at Hornsea in 1913.
ERYMS : 2013.15	CD containing Beyer-Peacock photographs of donor's grandfather, F. Ling, visiting the locomotive works in Manchester in 1930; Recordings of Edward Ling, who was assistant miller at Welton water mill, and served in the East Riding Yeomanry in WWI; Wartime experiences of Charles Neville Snowden; Welton Mill photographs and notes.
ERYMS (Goole) : M10425	Tubular brass trench cigarette lighter, marked 'UL' on base. Rubbed stippled decoration on upper part of casing.
ERYMS (Goole) : M10423	Brass extending telescope in four sections, with integral brass lens caps at either end. Light brown leather stitched grip. Acquired by donor's father, a Quarter-Master Sergeant, at the end of the First World War.
ERYMS : 2013.44	Metal running fox, possibly made of gunmetal. This was owned by the donor's father, Lance Corporal Frederick William Lawson (1896-1978), who served in the East Riding Yeomanry in Palestine/Egypt during the First World War and who attended regimental reunions (in Hull etc) for many years afterwards. He joined up in about 1914. Although the precise origins of the object are unknown, it is most probably connected with Lawson's service with the ERY, given that a running fox was the emblem of the regiment. There are no maker's marks or names on the model fox.
ERYMS : 2013.47	Copy of sepia photo showing a group of East Riding Yeomanry, thought to have been taken in the Nile delta in 1916 or 1917. On sandy terrain, with the men arranged in three rows, dressed in shirts and shorts, some with solar tops. A tent to the right. The donor's father, Christian Agerskow, is in the back row, 2nd from the right. Rather like Amy Johnson, Agerskow had Danish antecedents and like her, his father was also in the fishing industry. Born in Hull and apprenticed to an apothecary there, he joined the ERY at Fulford barracks in York on the outbreak of war and then served in Egypt/Palestine. According to family tradition he was wounded at Ali Muntar Hill near Gaza (in 1917), treated in a hospital at Damascus and later returned to service on the western front. After the war he served on Arctic trawlers. He was the youngest of five sons, two others of whom served in the East Yorkshire Regiment.
ERYMS (BAG) : 2013.2	Brass memorial plaque recording the names of 13 "old boys" of the Castle Howard Farm School (a reform school for young offenders) who were killed in the First World War, along with the names of their regiments and their places of birth. The plaque was saved by the donor when the school closed in the early 1990's and was then transferred to Sutton Place Safe Centre, Hull, where it was rededicated. After another change of location, it was donated to the Museums Service. The donation also includes two laminated folders containing biographical information on the boys and photographs of them and information about the re-dedication in 2002 and associated educational activities. Also, a handwritten file of research notes. The 14 boys were: R. Norlund (Royal Navy), J. Cropper (RN), T. Burn (RN), W. Alderson (6th Dragoons), G.E. Collins (9th Lancers), G. Steele (11th Hussars), J. Brown (Northumberland Fusiliers), M. White (Royal Navy Reserve), J.A. Mendham, E. Douthwaite (West Yorkshire Regiment), T. Cooksey (W. Yorks. Rgt), G. Bradd (W. Yorks. Rgt) and G.H. Saturley (King's Royal Rifles). Rectangular plaque, highly polished, with screw holes at the corners. Made in London.

ERYMS (BAG) : 2013.3.1	C Squadron East Riding of Yorkshire Imperial Yeomanry challenge cup. Hallmarked silver, with two handles on an ebonised wood base. With winners between 1904 and 1912 engraved on shields fixed on the base. The trophy was won five times by Corporal Charles Alvara Lofthouse, of Escrick (in 1907, 1908, 1910, 1911 and 1912) and was presumably permanently awarded to him thereafter. Lofthouse (1875-1917) was a forester on the estate of Lord Wenlock and a crack shot. During the First World War he initially served with the 3/1st East Riding Yeomanry on coastal defence duties, as well as horse training in southern Ireland, but in April 1917 was drafted to the 1/1st ERY then serving in Palestine. Unfortunately, the ship he was on - HMT "Arcadian" - was sunk by a submarine in the Aegean on 15th April and Lofthouse was one of 19 ERY men drowned. A family story relates that he last seen down below calmly taking off his boots in order to be able to swim better.
ERYMS (BAG) : 2013.3.2	Framed photograph of Corporal Charles Alvara Lofthouse (of Escrick), East Riding Yeomanry. A studio portrait, taken against a backdrop, with Lofthouse in service uniform, holding his rifle. To the left is the C Squadron East Riding of Yorkshire Imperial Yeomanry challenge cup, which he won in 1907, 1908, 1910, 1911 and 1912 and which was presumably permanently awarded to him thereafter. Lofthouse (1875-1917) was a forester on the estate of Lord Wenlock and a crack shot. A family story relates that he last seen down below calmly taking off his boots in order to be able to swim better. In a glazed wooden frame, with card mount. Photograph taken in York.
ERYMS (BAG) : 2013.3.3	Black/white photograph showing part of the 50th anniversary parade of the East Riding Yeomanry in Beverley, July 1953. Veterans of the ERY in replica WWI uniforms are seen riding out of the North Bar along the York Road. One rider marked with an X, captioned on the back of the photograph "Bill on the dapple grey". The donor believes this to refer to her great uncle, William Dalton.
ERYMS (BAG) : 2013.3.4	Front page from The Daily Mirror for June 21st 1917. The image (re-drawn from a photograph) shows the last moments of the British transport ship HMT "Arcadian", sunk by a submarine in the Aegean on April 15th 1917. Over 200 men were drowned, including 19 out of 42 men intended as reinforcements for the East Riding Yeomanry regiment in Palestine. Part of a donation of objects relating to Corporal Charles Alvara Lofthouse, who was one of those lost in the sinking. Comparison with an original photograph of the wreck shows that the artist has added rocks and other features to add interest, as the incident actually occurred well out to sea.
ERYMS (BAG) : 2013.3.7	Postcard showing the British transport ship "Arcadian", sunk off Greece on April 15th 1917. Some 200 men were drowned, including the sender of the postcard Charles Alvara Lofthouse of Escrick. A Corporal in the East Riding Yeomanry, he was one of 19 ERY men to die in this incident. The postcard was sent to one of his children on the 9th April 1917 and the message calls it "Dad's boat". Despite rather ineffectual efforts (probably by the military censor?) to block out the ship's name, it is still legible.
ERYMS (BAG) : 2013.3.8	Four page document relating to the unveiling/dedication of the war memorial at St. Helen's church, Escrick, on Sunday 24th July 1921. The front page lists the names of those commemorated - Herbert Benson, William Penrose Clayden, John Coates, William Arthur Derrick Eley, Charles Alan Clarke Fullerton, Leonard Hescock, Raymond Hewison, Charles Alvara Lofthouse, John Arthur Raper, Joseph Walter Raper, John Sarginson and Charles Hugh Tempest Whitehead.
ERYMS (BAG) : 2013.3.9	British War medal (with striped ribbon), the edge inscribed "GS-18214, Cpl C.A. Lofthouse, E.R. of York Y. This was awarded posthumously to Charles Alvara Lofthouse (1875-1917), who was a forester on the estate of Lord Wenlock. During the First World War he initially served with the 3/1st East Riding Yeomanry on coastal defence duties, as well as horse training in southern Ireland, but in April 1917 was drafted to the 1/1st ERY then serving in Palestine. The TFE medal was awarded for 12 years service, but war service years counted double for this purpose. Medal in original card box. See also 2013.3.9
ERYMS (BAG) : 2013.3.11	Two Miniature Rifle Association Club medals. Metal scroll surmounted by a crown, with a Maltese cross overlaid, infilled with blue enamel and with lettering MINIATURE RIFLE CLUB SOCIETY divided between the four segments of the cross (also LOOK FORWARD underneath CLUB). Britannia flanked by two other figures in centre. Loop at top, with red/dark blue striped ribbon. Hallmarked on back. They were awarded to Charles Alvara Lofthouse (1875-1917), who was a forester on the estate of Lord Wenlock and a crack shot (he also won a regimental shooting trophy five times) - see 2013.3.1. During the First World War he initially served with the 3/1st East Riding Yeomanry on coastal defence duties, as well as horse training in southern Ireland, but in April 1917 was drafted to the 1/1st ERY then serving in Palestine.
